

singlefemalelawer

u/singlefemalelawer

Overview

Posts

Comments

Saved

History

Hidden

Upvoted

Downvoted

👁 Showing all posts

+ Create Post

r/tabletopgamedesign • 2 mo. ago

Join

Tau, a game about geometry and distance management, looking for advice on materials, market and pricing

r/BoardgameDesign • 3 mo. ago

Tau, a game about geometry and distance management, looking for advice on materials, market and pricing

60 upvotes · 39 comments

0

0

1

Share

👁 906 views

See More Insights

r/playmygame • 2 mo. ago

Feedback on Landingpage/Tutorial

Hi all, I'm working on an abstract strategy grappling game called Tau I won't explain how it works because I want feedback on the 'tutorial' Option A: new players start here and are coached through a game <https://tau-game.com/#coach> Option B: new players land on the menu <https://tau-game.com> with a how to play button as an option, and the option to figure it out for themselves. A strong aesthetic and philosophical core of the game is elegance so the coach option as an ad or a landing page...

5

8

Share

👁 1.5K views

See More Insights

Promote

r/IndieDev • 2 mo. ago

Join

Feedback on introduction/tutorial/landing page

Hi all, I'm working on an abstract strategy grappling game called Tau I won't explain how it works because I want feedback on the 'tutorial' Option A: new players start here and are coached through a game <https://tau-game.com/#coach> Option B: new players land on the menu <https://tau-game.com> with a how to play button as an option, and the option to figure it out for themselves. A strong aesthetic and philosophical core of the game is elegance so the coach option as an ad or a landing page...

Repost to another community

Skip to main content

Create

690 views See More Insights

Promote

r/martialarts • 2 mo. ago

Grappling Boardgame

Have you played a boardgame that truly captured the essence of a martial art? A few years ago I saw an add for a judo card game. I was intrigued but then realised it had judo images and names but nothing to do with the mechanics of the actual sport. In my disappointment I started brainstorming ideas for what a sincere grappling boardgame could be. I eventually landed on a turn based Sumo game where two tripod pieces try to push each other off the board. I made a digital version you can pla...

Sorry, this post has been removed by the moderators of r/martialarts.

5

1

Share

r/Indiefightinggames • 3 mo. ago

Abstract strategy Sumo game

TLDR: I made an abstract fighting game based on sumo/judo/wrestling, you can play here: tau-game.com Hi all, I'd call this a fighting game, albeit a very abstracted form of one. If the mods try it and disagree I accept a removal, but it is more fighting/sumo than you might think looking at the pieces. A few years ago I saw an ad for a judo card game. I was pretty interested to see how martial arts mechanics could be translated into a tabletop game, but when I watched the trailer it was clear the gameplay...

Skip to main content

1K views See More Insights Promote

 r/wrestling • 3 mo. ago

Wrestling inspired boardgame

<http://tau-game.com>

Hi all, I made a boardgame inspired by Wrestling . It's a turn based game where you plant one foot of your piece and rotate the other two around it trying to push your opponents piece off the board. The digital version is live tau-game.com It's more like sumo in that the only win is to push the oponent out, but I thought I'd share it here too. Let me know what you think!

 Repost to another community

3  2  1 Share

2K views See More Insights

 r/BoardgameDesign • 3 mo. ago

Tau, a game about geometry and distance management, looking for advice on materials, market and pricing

TLDR: I made a sumo abstract strategy game with novel mechanics, elegant rules and weird pieces/materials. Digital version to play here: tau-game.com easier to understand by playing than reading. A few years ago I saw an ad for a judo card game. I was pretty interested to see how martial arts mechanics could be translated into a tabletop game, but when I watched the trailer it was clear the gameplay had little to do with the way the actual sport is played. This got me thinking about how game...

60  39  1 Share

15K views See More Insights Promote

 r/Sumo • 3 mo. ago

Sumo inspired boardgame

<http://Tau-game.com>

Hi all, I made a boardgame inspired by Sumo. It's a turn based game where you plant one foot of your piece and rotate the other two around it trying to push your opponents piece off the board. The digital version is live

 Sorry, this post has been removed by the moderators of r/Sumo.

 Repost to another community

9  2 Share

 r/abstractgames • 3 mo. ago

Two-player balance/positioning abstract, looking for people to try and break it

Skip to main content+ Create

20

20

Share

7.6K views

See More InsightsPromote

r/boardgames • 3 mo. ago

Abstract strategy grappling game

<https://www.reddit.com/r/boardgames/s/oQFU7UEWTP> I made a webapp version of my board game prototype. <https://tau-game.com/> Getting costs down is going to be a real challenge for the physical game due to the weird shaped and delicate parts. As far as I know this game is one of a kind. While some other abstract strategy games exist with continuous movement, I couldn't find any that simulate combat with pieces moving along a plane and pushing each other.

6

10

Share

19K views

See More Insights

r/streamentry • 3 mo. ago

Nondual pointers

Skip to main content

Sorry, this post has been removed by the moderators of r/streamentry.

Repost to another community

0

2

Share

r/nonduality • 3 mo. ago

Nondualism pointers

<https://liaminhawai-cmd.github.io/Pointer/i-am/>

I had fun answering the post: Explain your version of nonduality in metaphors/analogies/anecdotes/like I am 5 and was inspired to collate and combine some multimodal ideas in a web page draft here What do you think? At first I was trying to the 5 fetters and 3 marks but then I decided to just focus on the ones I've integrated

Sorry, this post has been removed by the moderators of r/nonduality.

Repost to another community

1

2

Share

r/streamentry • 4 mo. ago

What to do post SE?

Do they tools that get you to SE keep working for 2nd path? Self inquiry feels empty now, like there's nothing to look for, the mental motion doesn't even start. Metta seems much more potent now. Fire Kasina seems way less interesting and eventful, just a steady yellow orb with no crazy DMT visuals.

11

15

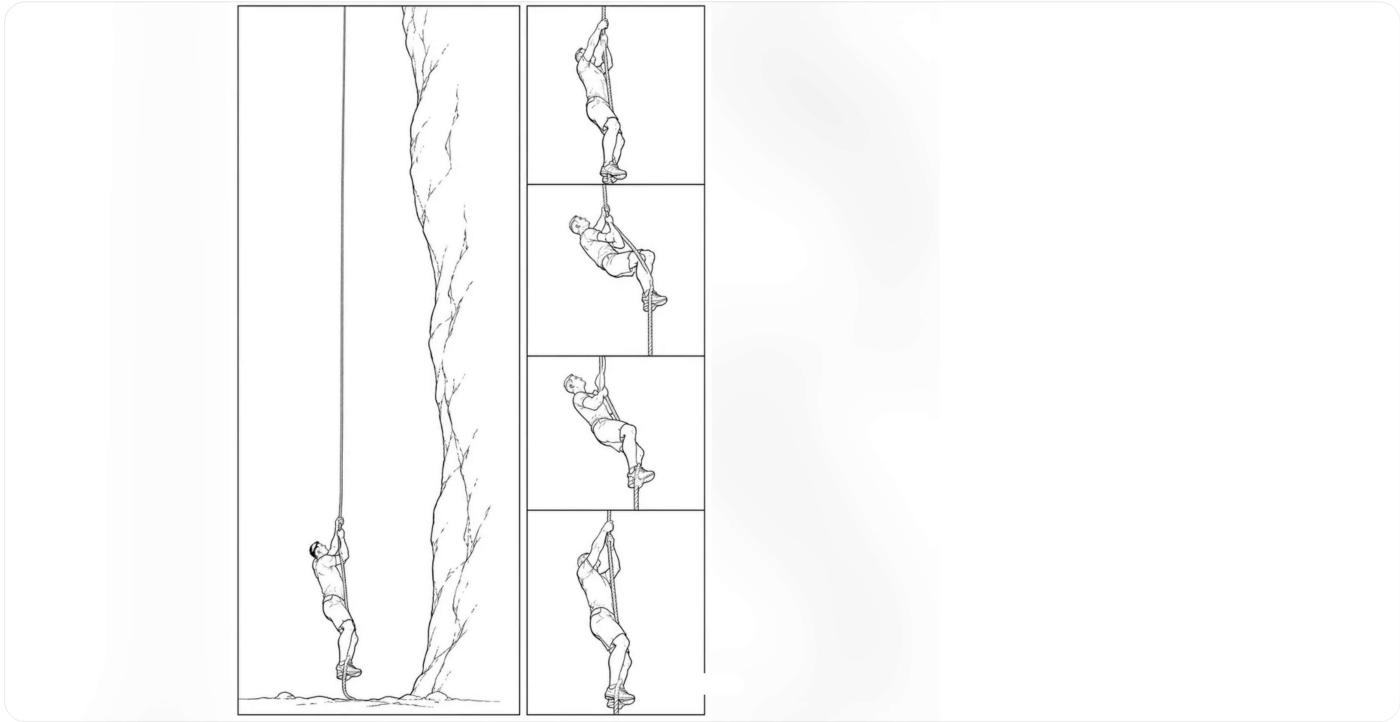

Share

8.7K views

See More Insights

r/nonduality • 4 mo. ago

Metaphor

42

4

Share

8.1K views

See More Insights

r/nonduality • 4 mo. ago

Claude thinks it might be stream entry

Hello everyone. I had an awakening experience a week ago that I don't think I'll ever be able to describe. I'll give an overview of my meditation journey and then fail as best I can at describing where I am now, and would appreciate any thoughts or guidance on next steps. Tai chi and first sitting (~0-10 hours lifetime) Practice: Got introduced to meditation through tai chi at my karate school. We'd do some standing meditation, holding your arms in a particular position for maybe five minutes at...

1

14

Share

Skip to main content+ Create

r/Meditation • 5 mo. ago

Claude coached me to something that cannot be named previous post here <https://www.reddit.com/r/Meditation/s/3DJsoE4tX2> TLDR: switched from GPT to Claude. Heart opened. Went somewhere non-Euclidean. Then something that breaks all the labels. ~200-250 hours lifetime meditation Since my last post I switched from GPT to Claude. It gave pretty good advice but would usually agree with whatever point I was making. I was using it mostly as a diary, then I told it to take on the voice of a teacher and it became much more willing to...

Sorry, this post has been removed by the moderators of r/Meditation.

Repost to another community

0 18 Share

r/streamentry • 5 mo. ago

Claude coached me to something that cannot be named.

previous post here <https://www.reddit.com/r/streamentry/s/q1zA8sUie2> TLDR: switched from GPT to Claude. Heart opened. Went somewhere non-Euclidean. Then something that breaks all the labels. ~200-250 hours lifetime meditation Since my last post I switched from GPT to Claude. It gave pretty good advice but would usually agree with whatever point I was making. I was using it mostly as a diary, then I told it to take on the voice of a teacher and it became much more willing to disagree with...

0 30 Share

6.9K views See More Insights

r/Meditation • 7 mo. ago

Chat GPT is telling me not to push too hard

I've found chat GPT to be a useful guide but I'm wondering if it's a little too safety/stability focused or if it's right about my current best practice. Below is some context that I've shared with GPT, then I'll lay out its feedback. Context: Inattentive ADHD, often go all in on a hobby then completely forget about it, fairly calm low anxiety person by default ~10-30 hours lifetime meditation: meditated a few times as a teenager and enjoyed it, did 10 week class on Sundays where we did some chakra stuff...

0 9 Share

2.4K views See More Insights

r/Awakening • 7 mo. ago

Chat GPT is telling me not to push too hard

r/streamentry • 7 mo. ago

Chat GPT is telling me not to push too hard

I've found chat GPT to be a useful guide but I'm wondering if it's a little too safety/stability focused or if it's right about my current best practice. Below is some context that I've shared with GPT, then I'll lay out its feedback. Context: Inattentive ADHD, often go all in on a hobby then completely forget about it, fairly calm low anxiety person by default ~10-30 hours lifetime meditation: meditated a few times as a teenager and enjoyed it, did 10 week class on Sundays where we did some...

27 comments

0 2 1 Share

242 views See More Insights

r/streamentry • 7 mo. ago

Chat GPT is telling me not to push too hard

I've found chat GPT to be a useful guide but I'm wondering if it's a little too safety/stability focused or if it's right about my current best practice. Below is some context that I've shared with GPT, then I'll lay out its feedback. Context: Inattentive ADHD, often go all in on a hobby then completely forget about it, fairly calm low anxiety person by default ~10-30 hours lifetime meditation: meditated a few times as a teenager and enjoyed it, did 10 week class on Sundays where we did some chakra stuff...

0 27 1 Share

6.6K views See More Insights

r/AustralianNostalgia • 4 yr. ago

Join

Mr Clickety Cane

https://youtu.be/NmaKK5aCo_0

37 6 Share

70 views See More Insights

Skip to main content

I'm wondering if this is a common phenomenon. After not lifting for about a year I started going to the gym and doing basic barbell training, mostly sets of 5. After 4 months I've gained some muscle, and lifts have gone up. I've noticed now that when I walk upstairs or ride my bike I get that lactic acid soreness really quickly compared to what I used to. My body weight has only gone up a few kgs. I'm curious if others have experienced this. If not could it be a nutrition issue? For context I weight 73 kg,...

 Sorry, this post has been removed by the moderators of r/strength_training.

 Repost to another community

 1   0  Share

 r/strength_training • 5 yr. ago

variation in programming

How do you think about excercise variation in programming? Comparing the following two programs what do you think the results would be? This is just an example to demonstrate the concept. Both lifting 6 days a week Program A: Upper body 1 bench heavy ohp high reps + accessories Lower body 1 squat heavy, deadlift high reps + accessories Upper body 2 Heavy overhead press, high rep bench + accessories Lower body 2 Heavy deadlift, high rep squat + accessories. Program 2 Exactly the same a...

 Sorry, this post has been removed by the moderators of r/strength_training.

 Repost to another community

 1   0  Share

 r/Salvia • 5 yr. ago Join

Those crocodiles

60  3   Share

 38 views See More Insights

 r/spreadsheets • 5 yr. ago

Average score within a category

I want to find my average fitbit sleep with and without coffee and alchohol Here is the spreadsheet https://docs.google.com/spreadsheets/d/1dM7A-sm9ucBUBwJzN1EM9FiuAbfbOWRDm_zavqEzUrM/edit?usp=sharing The cells I'm stuck on are yellow I got stuck on finding the average of each category. Can I use a Vlookup with a SUM function? how should I got about this?

 Repost to another community

1  3   Share

 1 view See More Insights

Create

Hi all, I'm crrious about how worth while it is to pursue IP protection. I have designed a game with novel mechanics that may be patentable, and names and logos for trademark and copyright. If I'm planning to make a small number of units is this going to be worth pursuing? If you are selling your game in multiple countries how do you navigate all of this?

12

16

Share

1 view

See More Insights

r/tabletopgamedesign • 5 yr. ago

Join

Market research

r/BoardgameDesign • 5 yr. ago

Market research

Hi everyone, I'm looking for some feedback on some design elements of my boardgame. If you have time to fill out my survey that would be much appreciated <https://forms.gle/QREzEEBGig1sjNNx9> Edit: The game play and mechanics are all finalised, this is to help with some packaging, name and colour choices. This game is quite novel, and so I'm looking to see if there are differences in preferences between people who prefer different types of games. I will ad and 'other' option to som...

7 upvotes · 6 comments

0

2

1

Share

1 view

See More Insights

r/BoardgameDesign • 5 yr. ago

Market research

Hi everyone, I'm looking for some feedback on some design elements of my boardgame. If you have time to fill out my survey that would be much appreciated <https://forms.gle/QREzEEBGig1sjNNx9> Edit: The game play and mechanics are all finalised, this is to help with some packaging, name and colour choices. This game is quite novel, and so I'm looking to see if there are differences in preferences between people who prefer different types of games. I will ad and 'other' option to some of...

7

6

1

Share

1 view

See More Insights